Medical Diagnostic Associates, a Medical Corporation (MDIA) Recognized as “Top 25 Connected Health Care Facility”

by Medical Diagnostic Associates, a Medical Corporation (MDIA) in Woodland Hills, CA

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif. – (BUSINESS WIRE) – December 14, 2009 – Medical Diagnostic Associates, a Medical Corporation (MDIA) has been recognized by Healthcare Imaging and IT Magazine as a “Top 25 Connected Healthcare Facility.” MDIA is a leading national provider of network diagnostic imaging and electrodiagnostic examinations, and is unique in its offering of centralized web-based archiving of a patient’s entire diagnostic imaging examination and report, facilitating 24/7 portability and availability. This archiving service is provided by ElectRIS, an Electronic Diagnostic Record (EDR). The EDR is an essential component along with the Electronic/Computerized Medical Record (EMR) in providing a comprehensive Electronic Health Record (EHR).

MDIA’s on-site Board-certified and University Fellowship-trained diagnostic radiologists utilize ElectRIS to enable its clients to obtain expert second opinion evaluations of diagnostic imaging examinations. Archived studies are available for future comparison, consultation, conferencing, and review. The ElectRIS EDR assures substantial cost savings with enhanced quality of patient care. “Through the use of ElectRIS, MDIA has been able to provide clients with expert second opinion evaluations, eliminating the necessity of expensive and unnecessary repeat examinations,” states Ronald J. Friedman, M.D., MDIA President and Chief Executive Officer. Gail M. Schlesinger, M.D., MDIA’s Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer adds that “ElectRIS is a major step forward, providing time efficiencies and cost savings while optimizing patient care.”
